

genesis

There are angels standing in the sun
And they are crying with a loud voice,
"Come with us, to the flight towards emotions"

genesis in our flight of fancy

Photographs to Be Listened to and Music to Be Seen

This is not a book with photographs, but a book of photographs - a tribute not only to the music and lyrics of Genesis but also to their significance to the authors' lives. Through their cameras' lenses - appendices of their souls - they take us on a fascinating and moving journey through the unforgettable verses of the band.

Each photograph has a history that justifies its juxtaposition to the lyrics and the authors' desire is for readers to feel their own unique emotions as they approach this work.

This book is a perfect synergy of images and music, in a crescendo of photographs to be listened to and music to be seen.
